Broad MBA Recruiting Events and Off-Campus Fairs

Diversity Preview Weekend

November 12–13, 2010

MSU Campus, East Lansing

Broad has a reputation for training leaders who manage cross-functional, diverse teams adeptly. Leading the way in this area, we model and encourage racial and cultural exchange through a diverse student body. Our MBAs learn, live, and lead diversity, gaining an ability to unite people from all backgrounds to fulfill a corporate mission. Apply to take part in our Diversity Preview Weekend, to learn how we can help you achieve your leadership goals, by sending a copy of your resume to Paul North at northp@bus.msu.edu. Limited travel scholarships are available.

Exploration Events

Fall: October 9 and November 13, 2010

Spring: February 5 and March 19, 2011

MSU Campus, East Lansing

If you are still considering the Broad MBA or exploring your options, and you have not yet completed an application, we highly recommend attending one of our exploration programs, designed to provide you with in-depth information about academics, admission requirements, career options, and student life. These on-campus programs give you a firsthand look at the Broad experience and let you talk face-to-face with admissions officers and current Broad MBA students. Register at:

“Broad is so much more than just the faculty and staff. It’s really about the students. Through teamwork and collaboration, commitment to family and the community, and a sincere desire for everyone to succeed, students at Broad continue to strengthen and leverage the Broad brand. That’s what attracted me to the program, and that’s what I think will continue to attract students in the future.”

Jeneace Thrasher, MBA Class of 2006

Individual Campus Visits

If you have submitted an application or have been admitted to the Broad MBA program, an individual visit is an excellent way to learn more about us.

During your visit, you may sit in on an MBA class in your intended concentration, tour the Broad School, and meet with an admissions staff member or have lunch with a current student. You may also participate in an evaluative interview. For available dates and to schedule an on-campus visit:
